"A Gleam of Light.

"We have been trying for some time past to induce our friend of the 'Journal' to give us light on the subject of 'natural advantages' in publishing a newspaper at a court house town, but so far our efforts have all been in vain.

But when we read the above in our contemporary we cried, Eureka. It is 'public and official advertisements' that constitute the "natural advantages' in publishing a newspaper at a court house ttown. At last we have discoværed the secret, for our brother in an unguarded moment gave lhis secret away "-- Democrat

We cannot see why the Editor. of the Democrat will leap at a conclusion and fancy the said conclusion to be an undisputed and settled fact. There is a line sof demarcation between a fact and a product of a feverish imaggination.

That we had a secret and scuve it away in an unguarded moment to our vigilant beighbor is a thing that has never existed, except in the fertile imagination of our friend.

Last week was an unfortunate one for us, in the way of misconstruing our contemporaries. What we understood to be irony and self glorification on the part of the Easley Democrat, was actually strict and literal truth, with out any figure of speech.
